SUSTAINABLE

BUSINESS

DIRECTORY

Meet the 400+ members of the
Sustainable Business Network

THE SUSTAINABLE BUSINESS NETWORK OF GREATER PHILADELPHIA and GRID MAGAZINE present a guide to locally owned, independent businesses.

Hello, I'm a Localist!

FROM THE EXECUTIVE DIRECTOR

I learned the term “Localist” earlier this year at the annual conference of our national partner, the Business Alliance for Local Economies (BALLE). I was so glad to finally find a word that describes what we do. During my eight years as Executive Director of the Sustainable Business Network of Greater Philadelphia (SBN), I’ve tried to explain our goal of building strong local living economies. But when I used the term “local living economy,” people’s eyes would glaze over.

I would talk about how locally owned businesses recycle more of their income back into their own communities (the economic multiplier effect), and how our business members were pursuing a triple-bottom-line of people, planet and profit. Inevitably, I would get caught up in my own jargon. The language I was using just didn’t work.

But the localism concept has resonated with every Philadelphian with whom I’ve shared it. In the words of BALLE: Localism means we are building communities that are healthier and more sustainable—backed by local economies that are stronger and more resilient. It means we use regional resources to meet our needs—reconnecting eaters with farmers, investors with entrepreneurs, and business owners with the communities on which they depend.

Localism is about building a new economy, right here in Philadelphia.

This starts by expanding and diversifying local ownership, finding local substitutes for things we’re importing, and building stronger individual businesses by promoting collaborations among those businesses. Localism results in more wealth and jobs per capita, and in greater personal accountability for the health of the natural and human communities of which we’re a part. The goal is real prosperity—for all.

And people get it! Suddenly I’m not losing my audience and people are nodding their heads. They tell me they want to be Localists too! They understand me when I say that for the past 11 years, SBN has been building Localist businesses, educating Localist shoppers, and helping government officials to understand why Localist policies create a stronger economy.

Through this business guide, I am pleased to introduce you to the leaders of the Localist movement in the Philadelphia region. These locally owned businesses are putting their money where their mouths are and having a tremendous impact. And I’m especially proud to say that every single one of them is a member of the Sustainable Business Network.

With gratitude,

Leanne Krueger-Braneky

Executive Director,
Sustainable Business Network

What businesses join SBN?

SBN member businesses typically fall into the following categories:

- ▶ New businesses that want to ensure they're sustainable from the beginning
- ▶ Businesses that are already pursuing sustainable practices and want to deepen their contribution to community, their employees and the environment while growing their profits
- ▶ Established businesses with a track record of success that want to learn how to become more socially and environmentally sustainable in their business practices

What makes the businesses in this directory sustainable?

SBN members are required to benchmark their social and environmental practices by completing a B Impact Assessment with B Lab within one year of joining. Businesses get a confidential scorecard that shows how they match up against their peers and competitors. SBN believes the B Impact Assessment is the best tool on the market to measure the social and environmental impacts of small businesses—and B Lab is headquartered locally!

 Most importantly

All SBN member companies are locally and independently owned. We value local first!

SBN INITIATIVES

▶ Membership Services

We offer a network of services to businesses, organizations, individuals and students who want to be part of a like-minded community. The services we offer are driven by our members and supporters, who are engaged on a regular basis.

▶ Social Venture Institute

Our largest education program, the Social Venture Institute is the premier annual forum for local businesses to share best practices that benefit our community, the environment and their company's bottom line. In addition to learning from seasoned entrepreneurs, participants receive concrete feedback in the areas of finance, marketing and management.

Business United for Conservation

▶ Business United for Conservation

An industry partnership of local companies that provides services for green infrastructure, including green roofers, architects, engineers, technology providers and contractors. Through Business United for Conservation, SBN is helping to connect local businesses and local workers to economic opportunity created by government investments.

▶ Sustainable Business Guide

The Sustainable Business Guide connects Philadelphia small businesses to resources that will improve their environmental and social impacts. It is designed to introduce the average small business owner to ways to save money, serve their community and go green through their business. It was produced through a collaborative effort by the Mayor's Office of Sustainability, Philadelphia Department of Commerce, and SBN.

▶ Business Resources

Visit the Resources page at sbphiladelphia.org/resources to take advantage of tools SBN has developed to help the local business community. From research and advocacy tools—like our Taking Care of Business Report—to a complete index of Southeastern Pennsylvania's training resources for environmental careers, the Green Training Index, SBN resources are always growing to meet your needs!

PAUL SPIEGEL
 President,
 Practical Energy
 Solutions

WHAT SUSTAINABILITY INITIATIVE ARE YOU MOST PROUD OF?

"We hit a home run with our West Chester Area School District project—we worked with facilities, staff, faculty, students and local businesses, and helped the District reduce CO2 emissions by over 10 million pounds, while they have saved over $1 million in energy costs to date. Essentially, they were paid through savings to significantly reduce their environmental footprint and raise awareness of environmental issues throughout the community."

JAY COEN GILBERT
Co-founder, B Lab

WHAT SUSTAINABILITY INITIATIVE ARE YOU MOST PROUD OF?

"That more than 7,000 businesses are using the free, confidential B Impact Assessment to compare, improve and communicate their positive impact on their workers, communities and the environment. By measuring what matters, these businesses are attracting and retaining the best talent by demonstrating that they are places where people can bring their whole selves to work."

COLLEEN BRACKEN
 President and Founder,
 Bracken Leadership

WHAT SUSTAINABILITY INITIATIVE ARE YOU MOST PROUD OF?

"As a leadership development consultancy, we apply principles of sustainability directly to leadership. One practice that I personally employ is called "Meetless Mondays." As the visionary and driver of this organization, it's critical that I stay energetically "well-funded," keeping reserves of time, creativity, and energy to lead effectively for the long run. By keeping Mondays meeting-free, the day can be used for visioning, planning, learning, catching up—anything that restores and refuels me as a leader."

PENNY ORDWAY

Founder,
Eviana Life Spa

WHAT SUSTAINABILITY INITIATIVE ARE YOU MOST PROUD OF?

"Designing the first green spa in the region 11 years ago! We envisioned a healthy interior for clients, for ourselves and for our precious planet. Researching and procuring green construction materials was a challenge back then! Among all the non-toxic finishes and bamboo, there's a great deal of natural light. We've never used fossil fuels to power the spa, we distill our own water, and love the efficacy of biodynamic and organic products. Our joy is helping sustain people's beauty, physical confidence and spiritual balance."

WHAT SUSTAINABILITY INITIATIVE ARE YOU MOST PROUD OF?

"I am most proud of the years working with SBN on the Social Venture Institute. With the Institute I wanted to help SBN give companies and individuals the resources and access to people that are making sustainability a reality, and let them know that the triple bottom line of people, planet and profit is a viable concept worth pursuing for emerging and established companies. I am proud of the role I am playing to increase awareness."

JOHN NEW

Chief Executive Officer,
The Hub Meeting and Event Centers

WHAT SUSTAINABILITY INITIATIVE ARE YOU MOST PROUD OF?

"We abolished plastic water bottles from all Hub locations five years ago and replaced them with reverse-osmosis filtered water service. Bucking this trend was a bit bold and not widely embraced at first, however many of our customers appreciate that they can be part of the solution with us in eliminating the dreadful and lingering effects plastic water bottles have on the environment (and human health). The hospitality industry is notorious as one of the worst stewards of our planet's finite resources, yet we can redefine the industry one meeting at a time with the courage to lead. In the past five years, The Hub has kept more than 900,000 plastic bottles out of our landfills and oceans."

TOM KEHOE
President,
Yards Brewing Company

WHAT SUSTAINABILITY INITIATIVE ARE YOU MOST PROUD OF?

"At Yards we recycle most every waste product we possibly can, and we're most proud of how we recycle our spent grain. Spent grain is a natural byproduct of brewing which can be used as animal feed, and the Bucks County buffalo farmer who picks up our grain drops off Yards' grain-fed buffalo meat. We use the meat in buffalo chili served in our tasting room, sustaining a virtuous circle of life!"

Director of Communications,
 Waste Oil Recyclers

WHAT SUSTAINABILITY INITIATIVE ARE YOU MOST PROUD OF?

"At Waste Oil Recyclers, we are proud to say that all of the used cooking oil we collect and recycle is never exported and is used as locally sourced fuel. We do not make decisions based solely on the bottom line, but on what is socially responsible and best for the future of our environment and community."

It takes more than great shoes to make a shoe business successful. It takes a company with values that place people and community right up there with the bottom line.

Our one true goal is to leave this world a better place than we found it.
